CHAPTER IX.

The Judge wanted to know what was the usual consensus, and counsel for defense objected, as there were both present. The Judge begged pardon, said he forgot.

Cinders, for plaintiff, who had been eating peans, arose and swore the question must be answered, and spreading himself, exclaimed:

"Your honor, whenever the wings of the American Eagle are spread, there! there! your honor, an American has the right to freely express himself."

Mr. for defense, arose and made a speech, I have not quite understood, to the effect that the Judge had been overawed by the plaintiff, who had been eating peans, arose and swore the question must be answered, and spreading himself, exclaimed:

"Your honor, whenever the wings of the American Eagle are spread, there! there! your honor, an American has the right to freely express himself."

Having been granted a leave of absence, I determined to visit the Mammoth Cave.

Having been granted a leave of absence, I determined to visit the Mammoth Cave.

For many reasons I have long cherished a desire to make such a trip, and at this time many things conspired to make it practical and favorable.

Hoping that some account of what I saw might be read with profit and pleasure by some of your readers, a report of our tour will be furnished in this letter.

The cave is about two hundred yards from the hotel, and is approached through a romantic and beautiful dell, shaded by a forest of trees and grape vines. Passing through this and turning abruptly to the right, the visitor is suddenly startled by a rush of cold air, and beholds before him the yawning mouth of the great cave, dismal, dark and dreary. Descent some thirty feet, by rickety steps of stone, and you are fairly under the arch of the "mother world." Before you, in looking towards the entrance, is seen a small stream of water falling from the face of the rock upon the rocks below and disappearing.

Proceeding onward some distance the progress of the explorer is arrested by a door set in a rough stone wall, which stretches across and completely blocks up the entrance to the cave.

After entering, the first scene of interest to the beholder is Audubon Avenue; leaving this and proceeding down the cave perhaps a quarter of a mile, the visitor comes to the Kentucky Chilis, so called from a resemblance to the cliffs on the Kentucky river, and descending gradually enters the Methodist Church. The ceiling here is nearly二十 feet high. Eight or ten feet above the pulpit and immediately behind it is the organ or organ loft, which is sufficiently capacious for an organ and choir of the largest size. It is great temple of nature, religious service has been performed.

Leaving the church and passing through sweeping curves across the mouth of the cave and passing many places of grandeur and beauty too numerous to mention, in fact it continues to increase in interest as you advance, the visitor is met at every step by something to delight and admiration.

Proceeding onward we arrive at the Giant's Coffin, a large rock on the right, which bears a singular resemblance to a coffin. At this point commences the most remarkable avenue, and presents the most optical illusion; in looking up to the ceiling, which is very high, the spectator seems to behold the very stratosphere itself, studiously hidden behind a curtain of rock.

Shut up your chattering, and go on," shouted the Judge, getting mad at us.

"Well, I was all right, but now I am not," replied the Judge.

"Well, you see, Judge, I war sorter hind in the chicken-coop."

"What were you doing there?"

"Well, we hadn't had no liquor for four or five days, and old Billy had so derned full of old red-eye behind him, that I thinks to myself, while all them fellers is a purlin in gittin' skinned, I mout as well enjoi myself; well I be billy be."

"No swearing in court!" thundered the Judge.

"I begs a thousand pardins, Judge; I only went God dernit."

"Well, well, go on."

"Well, I was all right, but now I am not," replied the Judge.

"Discharge that witness, Mr. Sheriff!" exclaimed the Judge, "and place him in the Mammoth Cave, which has long been esteemed as one of the grandest objects of the kind in the world. One of the chief glories of the Cave is Gorlin's Dome. This dome is of solid rock with sides regularly dited and polished as if finished by the most skillful workmen, and near two hundred feet high, Persico Avenue is very picturesque; it unites, in an eminent degree, the beautiful and the sublime, and is highly interesting throughout. I despair of giving any description of the lakes and river. This guide left us in total darkness for a few moments only, when we were told to look aloft; such a scene as this will be calculated to fill the mind (although perfectly conscious of safety) with a sense of grandeur; lost and astonished, swelling with emotions which engross all its faculties and mock the power of utterance. Indeed the emotions excited by this sublime scene are unutterable; it sings to the heart and haunts the memory of one taste and refinement. It is no matter of surprise, therefore, that lovers of nature perform journeys of homage to that monarch of all empires, the Mammoth Cave, which has long been esteemed as one of the grandest objects of the kind in the world. PERSONAL.

Miss Katie Hardwick is still quite ill. John Oglesby was in town Monday and yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hardwick began housekeeping yesterday.

Mr. Frank Haworth of Hardinsburg, arrived in town, Sunday.

Mr. D. E. Thomas went to Louisville Monday to purchase groceries and to "see elephant."

Mr. W. P. Foreman, who has been very seriously ill for some days was able to be up Saturday.

Mr. W. T. King and son, Willie, are in Louisville, where they went to attend the railroad celebration and the exposition.

County Attorney Kinrossing went to Owensboro Thursday to take depositions in a case in which he is involved. He came back Sunday.

Dr. H. Baldwin, dentist, of Elizabethtown, will be in Hartford Friday. He will remain till Wednesday next at Judge R. S. Mosley's residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Tilover, of Calicoon, accompanied by their little daughter, Irene, spent several days in town last week visiting the family of Mr. W. T. King.

Mrs. Geo. Klein, accompanied by her two daughters, Sallie and Eugenia, are visiting and attending the exposition in Louisville. They will return next week.

Mrs. Vaughn, Mrs. Whitehead, Mrs. Alice Kimbley, and Misses Allie Anderson and Katie and Ruth Coombs, escorted by Col. Wm. P. Foreman, went to Sulphur Springs Sunday.

Mr. Y. D. Eirwin, of McLean county, who has been clerking for several months in Anderson's Bazaar, left for his home last Thursday. He was quite popular here and all regret his departure.

Mrs. Charlotte Doyle, of Louisville, after a pleasant visit of several weeks to this place returned home last Wednesday. She will attend the fair at this place in October, and her friends fondly hope she may spend the winter with us.

—Look out for the tags.

—Pike's Toothache Drops cure in one minute.

—Go to the Bazaar and see the lovely faces.

—Dr. Joe Miller's little child has been quite sick for several days.

—Look out for the Bazaar tags and get first choice.

—Mrs. Lizzie Colley, of Owensesboro is very ill with typhoid fever. She was thought to be better at last we're.

—Capt. Sam Cox has moved his office from the Court House to the Drug Store of Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro., where he will remain until the bank is completed.

—Mr. G. H. Williams has rented the Dining Hall and Floral Hall at the Fair Grounds and persons attending are assured plenty of first class eating and refreshments.

—Z. Wayne Griffin and Bro. keep school books and school supplies, stationery, ink, pens, pencils, etc. They sell them cheap for cash and that is the way you ought to buy.

—The four boys, Jno. H. Lenell, Emmett and Jno. Taylor and Will Hooker, who passed through Hartford August 1st enroute for Texas, arrived at their destination Sept. 3.

—Persons who subscribed contributions for building the Baptist church in the town of Hartford, will please pay them to W. S. Anderson as soon as possible, as the committee wish to put the building under way at once. Some of the contributions which were due in July have not been paid, the parties having doubtless forgotten about them.

—Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye, black or brown, fifty cents.

—Mr. Tom. S. Duke has a side of leather 10½ feet long.

—Born—Thursday, Sept. 7, 1882, to the wife of Elvia Stevens, a daughter.

—Dave Ketton's wife died Monday morning, near town, of consumption.

—Go to Henry Griffin and say, "De Seconete et De Anteita." Just for fun.

—Bourneer & Steele, agents for the Singer machine, have opened an office in the building formerly occupied by A. C. Etzel.

—In another place appears an item about a young man who walked six miles to Hartford to hire a horse and buggy. That young man's head was level if he got his rig from Uncle Bas. He keeps only the best. Put up with him when you come to the fair.

—If you want to go into ecstacies see the neckwear in Anderson's Bazaar—it is poetry in faces.

—An infallible remedy for fever and ague is Ayer's Ague Cure. Wholly vegetable and containing no quinine, it is harmless and sure.

—Terra cotta and mosaics are the stylish colors in dress goods this season—you can get them at Anderson's Bazaar.

—Thomas Hovey will have five tons of goods shipped to them this week. Think of it, 10,000 pounds of goods for one house at one shipment.

—Mrs. Briggs will return Saturday to Louisville with a select stock of the millinery goods, and respectfully invites her lady friends to call on her for the best goods and latest styles.

—Mr. Thomas N. Gillstrap, of Cromwell, received a portion of his fall stock, last weekend, and is now having a daily display of everything the people want. Vail and see him.

—The Mammoth Cave party, from Cullowhee, passed through town on their return home last Monday, G. W. Gates, Esq., and Drs. Lettich and Gates called on us. They report a pleasant and prosperous trip.

—By a typographical error in the last issue of the Hartford College News, Mrs. Vaughn's rates for board were put at two dollars and twenty-five cents per week. Two dollars and fifty cents is the price she has for regular board with room.

—Fifty wagon loads of hoop poles and staves go into Canevilly every Saturday and Monday, from their remanufacturing plant. They are a one-half inch in diameter and from one and one-fourth to one and one-half inches broad, both together weighing one and one-half ounces. Larger beams may be grown, but we have yet to hear of them.

—Farmers everywhere are realizing the utility, not to say the necessity, of using fertilizers on their land. It pays and pays well and Castlemann's Common Sense Fertilizer pays best of all. Thomas Bros.' are agents for Ohio county. Not only is it the best, but it is the cheapest.

—Judge O'Farrell says the remarks we made about him last week did him great injustice, that he had no thought of destroying the harmony of the convention, etc. Very well. We bear him no ill will, and are willing to give him everything he merits. After all we acted on Burns's —Consonine Honey of Tar will cure your cough or cold more readily and effectively than any other drug medicine in use. If you doubt this, try it, or ask some one who has tested its virtues, and you will,毫不迟疑地, believe 50 cents in the best cough remedy ever prepared. For sale by Thomas & Marshall.

—The Claytonian Society met at College Hall, Friday night, and reorganized for the year's work. The object of the society is literary and forensic improvement, and as it has borne fruit in the past, we hope the boys, this year, will so conduct it as to reap a richer harvest than ever.

—Farmers everywhere are realizing the utility, not to say the necessity, of using fertilizers on their land. It pays and pays well and Castlemann's Common Sense Fertilizer pays best of all. Thomas Bros.' are agents for Ohio county. Not only is it the best, but it is the cheapest.

—Dr. J. K. Tanner brought in some beans Monday which by far exceed anything we have ever seen. They are eleven and one-half inches long and from one and one-fourth to one and one-half inches broad, both together weighing one and one-half ounces. Larger beans may be grown, but we have yet to hear of them.

—Last Saturday evening some of the boys from the country came to town and got on a regular high daddy and proceeded to paint the town red. Frank Peyton attacked Joe Magee and was proceeding to diple his knife on Joe's navel.

—Two parties are now in the East buying goods for Howe's New Store. Just wait till the goods come and you will see such a display as never greeted your eyes before. The quality will be more wonderful than the display and the prices still more wonderful than the quality. They are so low that you may be tempted to buy.

—Go to the Bazaar to see the new things. You need not buy unless you wish to. It is a splendid place to spend a couple of hours. They have plenty of room now and you won't be in the way. Miss Alice has a whole room to herself and everybody is always welcome whether they come to buy or not.

—Mr. C. A. Carson, Circuit Clerk of Butler county, died of typhoid fever at his home in Morgantown several days ago. He was elected Circuit Clerk in 1880, and to the time of his illness gave the most universal satisfaction as an officer. He was a son of James Carson, Esq., a well-known and influential citizen of Butler county.

—Deputy Sheriff Marion Yates has been confined to his bed for seven weeks at his home in the country. He has typhoid fever and is convalescing.

—Remember Dr. Baldwin will be here to do work on that mouth of yours Friday. He may be found at Judge Mosley's until the 15th inst.

—The new students at the College are a gentlemanly set of fellows and the people destined to become as much attached to them as they have to their predecessors.

—A prophet is not without honor, save in his own country. Some time ago we predicted a great plague would befall us and wait till they come.

—Dr. H. Baldwin, the dentist, will be here to do work on that mouth of yours Friday. He may be found at Judge Mosley's until the 15th inst.

—We call your attention to the advertisement of Simmons Liver Regulator, which appears in the paper of to-day. This standard remedy, the only genuine of which is manufactured by J. H. Zell & Co., and of which they are the sole proprietors, does not deserve to be classed with the many "patent" nostrums so liberally advertised throughout the country. It is one of the very best preparations in use, and is recommended by the regular practitioners of medicine. It has a large sale in this city, and can be found in all our drug stores. A bottle or package should be found in every family, as its judicious use is almost sure to prevent a bilious attack if taken when the symptoms first show themselves.
